Press Release

Call for the Immediate Release of Moataz Abdelwahab

The International Coalition for Filmmakers at Risk (ICFR*) and its founding institutions, the European Film Academy, International Documentary Film Festival Amsterdam and International Film Festival Rotterdam, together with the Human Rights Film Network, Movies that Matter Foundation and PEN America, as well as the Accademia del Cinema Italiano - Premi David di Donatello, German Film Academy, Hellenic Film Academy, Icelandic Film- & TV Academy, Luxembourg Film Academy, Polish Film Academy, Swiss Film Academy and Ukrainian Film Academy, call for the Egyptian authorities to immediately and unconditionally release film producer Moataz Abdelwahab.

The Egyptian film producer Moataz Abdelwahab (43) produced the feature film WHEN WE'RE BORN (2019) by director Tamer Izzat, which played at the El Gouna International Film Festival and Les Journées Cinématographique de Cartage 2019, as well as a couple of documentaries which carry no political views, among them KHAN'S FINGERPRINTS, a portrait of the prominent Egyptian director Mohammad Khan, THE HEART OF CAIRO, examining the history of the city, and most recently A CURFEW, the upcoming film by renowned Egyptian filmmaker Amir Ramses. Moataz Abdelwahab disappeared on 5 May from his office in Cairo, only to re-appear on 11 May for a hearing at the Supreme Court for State Security, where he was accused of "partnering with a terrorist organisation" and "spreading false news" (case 586).

These accusations come after he produced a number of cultural documentary films which were sold to and aired on the Aljazeera Documentary Channel. According to legal experts, the arrest is based on false and fabricated charges.

We are very concerned about his safety and that of his family (he is the father of two, Zeina (12) and Yousef (6)) and call on the Egyptian authorities to immediately and unconditionally release Moataz Abdelwahab and encourage all film and culture institutions around the world to do the same.

Un appello per la liberazione del produttore egiziano

■ Una lettera della International Coalition for Filmmakers at Risk - la coalizione internazionale per i filmmaker in pericolo - e le sue istituzioni fondatrici, fra cui la European Film Academy e l'Accademia dei David di Donatello, si appella alle autorità egiziane per il rilascio immediato del produttore Moataz Abdelwahab. Tra i film da lui prodotti When We're Born di Tamer Izzat, Khan's Fingerprints - un documentario sul regista egiziano Mohammad Khan - e A curfew di

Amir Ramses. «Moataz Abdelwahab - recita la lettera - è scomparso il 5 maggio dal suo ufficio al Cairo per poi riapparire l'11 maggio per un'udienza davanti alla Procura suprema per la sicu-rezza dello Stato, dove è stato accusato di 'collaborazione con un'organizzazione terroristica' e di 'diffondere notizie false'. Queste accuse, continua la lettera, arrivano dopo che Abdelwahab «ha prodotto svariati documentari culturali venduti ed andati in onda sul canale dedicato ai documentari di Al Jazeera. Secondo degli esperti legali, il suo arresto è basato su delle accuse false e costruite ad arte».

«SIAMO MOLTO preoccupati per la sua sicurezza e per quella della sua famiglia e chiediamo alle autorità egiziane di rilasciare Moataz Abdelwahab immediatamente e senza condizioni, e incoraggiamo le istituzioni cinematografiche di tutto il mondo a fare lo stesso».
